

Identifying, Investigating, and Prosecuting Domestic Violence STRANGULATION Cases

SPONSORED BY

Thursday, August 27 OR

Friday, August 28

7:30 am - Registration

8:00 am – 5:00 pm Training

(lunch on your own)

Grand Forks Public Safety Center
1220 S 52nd St, Grand Forks, ND 58203

For more information or to register contact:
Teresa at 701-746-0405 or teresa@cviconline.org

In Partnership with

Training Institute on Strangulation Prevention www.strangulationtraininginstitute.com

Strangulation has been identified as one of the most lethal forms of domestic violence and sexual assault: unconsciousness may occur within seconds and death within minutes. When domestic violence perpetrators strangle their victims, especially to the point of unconsciousness, it is not only a felony but it may be an attempted homicide. Strangulation is an ultimate form of power and control that can have a devastating psychological effect on victims. The inability to breathe is one of the most terrifying events a person can endure.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Casey Gwinn JD, leading expert in the field of non-fatal strangulation and suffocation assaults in intimate partner violence cases, will collectively share his expertise and cover the following:

- Findings from a study of 300 misdemeanor strangulation cases
- Understanding the lethality of strangulation
- Link to other crimes, police shootings and mass murders
- Identifying the signs and symptoms of strangulation cases
- Anatomy and medical aspects in surviving and non-surviving victims
- Investigating and documenting domestic violence and sexual assault strangulation cases
- Legal aspects of strangulation cases with surviving victims
- Developing and using experts in court
- Advocating for traumatized victims
- Resources and handouts developed by the Institute

“For many years, we didn’t realize the seriousness of strangulation due to the lack of visible injuries and the lack of training. We would see it in police reports and hear victims say over and over ‘he choked me’. But it wasn’t until the deaths of two teenagers in San Diego in 1995 that we started to put it all together. Today we know that strangulation is one of the most accurate predictors for a subsequent homicide. If a victim is strangled even one time, she is 7x more likely to be killed by her abuser. Even if the victim is lucky enough to survive, she may have still suffered brain damage due to the lack of oxygen, other internal injuries, delayed or long-term consequences.”

Casey Gwinn, Esq., President Alliance for HOPE International & the Strangulation Training Institute on Strangulation Prevention

WHO SHOULD ATTEND: Any professional handling domestic violence, dating violence and sexual assault.

Law Enforcement | Prosecutors, Court Staff, Judges | Medical Providers | Advocates

This training session has been approved for 7 hours of ND POST & ND Social Work CEU's

This project was supported by Grant No. 2017-WE-AX-0020 awarded by the Office on Violence Against Women, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice. The opinions, findings, conclusions, and recommendations expressed in this publication/program/exhibition are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women.